THIS HAND-BUILT AND moderately-priced USB cable was conceived as the perfect link between a computer and any USB-equipped DAC. The distinctive design is instantly recognisable as a Tellurium Q product, its soft rubberised outer sheath designed to reduce the impact of external vibrations on the data conductors that lie within. In our listening tests, Tellurium Q's Blue USB presented an obvious improvement in sound quality to the stock cable bundled with many devices, ushering in an appreciably smoother performance free of grit, grain or brittleness. Overall, Blue USB represents a mighty fine upgrade that's worthy of any audiophile's shortlist.
